Dynamami Foundation selected to work with highly competitive University of Michigan's Ross School of Business's Executive Multidisciplinary Action Project (ExecMAP)

The Dynamami Foundation and Uncork for a Cure had the wonderful opportunity of being selected to work with the Ross School of Business's Executive Multidisciplinary Action Project (ExecMAP). The Ross Business School by University of Michigan is one of the Top 10 business schools in the country, and the Executive program in particular has been placed as a Top Five-Ranked school by Poets&Quants and Fortune Education.

This was a fall semester core class and a very competitive selection process to be matched. We're thankful for the energy, creativity and recommendations the EMBA students presented. We look forward to implementing the strategic plans provided to further grow the foundation and increase the funding available to research and support for Lobular Breast Cancer.

Thanks to Len Middleton for leading the team as well as Marissa Aydlett, Erin Colpaert, Joe Conley, Lori Huang and Anthony McClish, who were selected to partner with The Dynamami Foundation through a highly competitive nomination process.
